Journal of Forensic Studies in Accounting and Business

The Journal of Forensic Studies in Accounting and Business (JFSAB) is a refereed academic and educational journal that publishes both research and educational papers in the areas of fraud and forensic studies in all fields of business. The journal is published by The Center for Fraud and Forensic Studies within the School of Accountancy at Georgia Southern University in Statesboro, Georgia. All submissions are subject to a double blind peer review process. Three tracks of papers are included in the journal:

- 1) Teaching
The purpose of this track is to improve education in the areas of fraud and forensic accounting. Pedagogical techniques, case presentations, and empirical studies are important areas for this track.
- 2) Practice
The purpose of this track is to present techniques and technologies of investigation involving real-world business problems or litigation issues. A secondary purpose is to encourage collaboration between practitioners and academics.
- 3) Research
The purpose of this track is to provide a forum for theoretical, empirical, and non-empirical papers in the area of fraud and forensic accounting.
